Richard O'Donnell Committed to Await the At the inquest, yesterday, in the case of Thomas Barker, the retired unhoisterer, whose dead body, guarded to his dog, was found in the yard of Mrs. Margard O'Donnell's house at 106th street and Third avenue, on Sunday ing two men quarreiling on the stoop at mid-night, and other witnesses gave testimony in accordance with reports aiready printed. Mrs. causing Mr. Berker's death, listened with much emotion to the reading of the statement she made on Monday tending to criminate her son, and certified to its correctness.

Richard O'Donnell, the prisoner, made a statement under oath, in which he said that his two previous statements were mode when he was under the influence of strong liquor. He drank a great deal on Friday, and more on Saturday. While he was drunk he carried Mr. Barker's dog to his house as a jose. Late on Saturday olight Mr. Barker came after the dog. O'Donnell heard the bell ring and went to the door, although his mother tried to prevent him. Barker wanted to flight him but he would not strike him, as he was an old man. After the servant had brought the dog. O'Donnell went back to bed, beaving Barker standing on the steps. The next morning to his horror, he found Barker dead. He reported his death to the police, and, fearing that he would be implicated in it, he denied having been at home at all that night. He then drank to intoxication, and it was in this condition that he made the statements he now desired to constraint. emotion to the reading of the statement she e made the statements he now desired to con-After deliberation, the jury returned the fol-wing verdict: "That Thomas Barker came bis death from an accidental fall, or a uses, r a blow, equaing the fall, by persons unknown to this jury.

Mr. Brennan differed from him entirely in his legal view of the duty of the Legislature respecting the Board of Audit allowance.

Mr. Bhodes supported Gen. Husted's view in an argument purely legal. He made the additional point, and it was one which brought over to his view several hesitating members, that the Legislature could not review the action of the Board of Audit without at that moment becoming an auditing body itself, and even this would be to violate the Constitution, which problems the Legislature from auditing any private ts the Legislature from auditing any private

Air. Alvord also took the same view, and also in a speech of an hour's length warned the members that they could not afford to have it said that the State of New York would not pay its debts—debts audited and allowed by the Board created for this very purpose.

Mr. Mitchell's argument was purely legal. He held that the Legislature had not only the power, but was expressly permitted by the Constitution to pass upon in review the action of the Board of Audit.

Mr. Cong-lon made a severe sectarian speech against the Catholic Protectory appropriations for which he was rebused by Mr. Mitchell.

The vote on the amendments offered by Mr. Brennan was not reached until neon to-day. These amendments if carried, would strike the objectionable items from the bill. The first vote that on striking out the Swilt caims, was lost, the committee being sustained by a vote of 61 to 53. It was, however, evident from this vote that it would be impossible to obtain the necessary number of votes, 86, to pass the bill, so long as these items were in it. All of Mr. Brennan's amendments were lost, but the opposition held well together. When the vote on the final passage of the bill was reached, some of the members had gone, that they might each the early afternoon trains for home, but the absentees were drawn equally from the supporters of the bill and the opponints. It is probable, however, that after a little time steps will be taken to bring the bill again before the Assembly, as was the case in 1875, when the bill was once defeated before it was passed. At that time, however, the opposition yielded.

Gen, Husted says this evening that he shall pass the Surrely bill, notwithstanding the opposition, by a simple parliamentary device. There are three or four slight gratuities in the bill. The presence of these makes it necessary for the bill to receive 50 votes. Gen, Husted's purpose is to strike out those gratuities, and send the bill to the Senate with the objectionable items in it. He believes the Senate will pass it. Then it will come back to the Assembly and will require without the gratuities only 65 votes to become a law. It received to-day 67 votes, The orposition, who held a meeting this afternoon and decided to oppose the bill to the end so long as those items were in, are somewhat disconcerted to-night at the announcement of this purpose of Gen, Husted's.

CLEANING THE CITY STREETS.

A New Phase of the Long-Continued Suit or the Mackley Contracts.

The suit of Charles Devlin against the Mayor, Aldermen, &c., of the city of New York, involving the old Hackley contract for cleaning the city streets, was before Judge Larremore in Special Term of the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday. There have been three references and several decisions of the Court of Appeals in the case, in its many phases. The feature under consideration yesterday was a motion by Mr. W. O. Bartlett, special counsel for the city, to set aside a compulsory reference which was ordered by Judge Van Brunt.

Mr. Bartlett, after the reading of an affidavit in opposition to a motion by ex-Judge Cardozo, smil: This reference was ordered in the case by Judge Van Brunt on the supposition that the trial would be proposition that the trial would be proposition that the trial would be a difficult case for a jury to try. The counsel for the plaintiff and for the defendants other than the city, who were in effect plaintiffs, in the opening of the case he fore the referee said that he could put in his case in three or four days. We have aloged that and it is in the affildavit containing a brief history of the case, and on those papers we more the vacation of the order for a reference. In reply, on the former hearing, one of the learned counsel for the plaintiff read an a fillastic that he had been informed that the notes of the stenographer were incorrect. He did not state by whom he had been so informed. There is no contradiction of the statement by Mr. Cronis, and it may be taken as correct. My learned friends in their argument have produced the report of the former trial. They have reforred to that in the affidavit read this morning, and they state—and I am very much obliged to them mind of the Court on that subject—that he new trial will be the same as the former trial. Now, your Hener, I call your attention to the pleadings in the case. By the examination of them you will see that this is a case in which it is impossible that any long account can be introduced in evidence from the very nature of the transaction. It is a contract to olean the streets of the city of New York for a certain specified sum of money, payable in so many semi-monthly installments. Now, it requires no account to collect the money. There can be no account; you could not keep any books in the case. It is exactly him to the court of the city of New York for a certain specified sum of money, payable in so many semi-monthly installments. Now, it requires no account would not keep any books in the case. It is exactly all the court of the court trial, when you see that there can be no long account introduced now, we think you have the right at any time to interpose to prevent the wrong which is proposed to be perpetrated by depriving the city of the right of trial by jury, and wacate the order of reference."

Ex-Judge Cardozo—I would suggest that your Honor was one of the Judges at General Term who affirmed the order of reference.

Mr. Bartlett—And my learned friend was one of the Judges who made the reference. (Laughter.) ter.)
Judge Larremore took the papers and re-served his decision.

MONEY FOR THE BIG BRIDGE. PREPARATIONS FOR SWINGING THE STEEL ROADWAY IN THE AIR.

The 32,250,000 Appropriation-Pres. Murphy Explains why the Superstructure has been Belayed-Gen. Newton's Investigation.

When President Murphy of the Board of Trustees of the East River Bridge learned that Governor Cornell had signed the Bridge Appropriation bill giving $2,250,000 more to complete the structure, he ordered the United States flag to be displayed from the top of the Brooklyn tower. Yesterday arrangements were made to begin the demolition of the old St. Ann's Church in Washington street, Brooklyn, the last obstacle in the path of the bridge approach on that side of the river. Workmen will also be set to clearing the way to Chatham street, in this city. The trustees will have an early meeting to decide upon the work to be done first, and to perfect plans for as speedy a done first, and to perfect plans for as speedy a completion of the bridge as is possible. On Thursday Comptroller Steinmetz of Brooklyn wrote a letter to President Murphy, asking how much material had been delivered by the Edgemoor from Works on their contract for the suspended superstructure on the bridge. He further wrote:

The contract definands, if I am correct, 800 tons of material ready, to be mut in place, to be delivered on Dec. 1, 1879, and by a subsequent resolution of the Board another 500 tims were required by Jan. 1, 1880.

It is immortant that steps should be taken to call on the contract. If I have been correctly informed, no material has been furnished set although there has been money enough on hand to pay for the quantity ordered.

It will be a scribes loss of time if the contract is permitted to go on as he has done, without being held strictly to the terms of the contract. I deen it more important to build the suspended superstructure than the appearance work, as I have stated to the Board time and sgith.

President Murphy yesterday responded that procees and other grantle work, as I have stated to the Board time and sgain.

President Murphy yesterday responded that by the terms of the contract the company was to furnish the iron and steel work for all that part of the suspended superstructure that is supported by the masonry of the towers, complete in all its parts, and forty floor beams, and the lower chord channels required for a distance of seventy-five feet on each side of each tower by the first day of December, 1879. This was supposed to amount to 500 tons. The supplemental contract for 500 tons in addition, authorized by the trustees, was never executed by the parties, in consequence of a disagreement as to the time of the delivery, the contractors insisting that the time for the delivery of the whole 1,000 tons should be extended to the first of February, 1880.

Lave been informed, adds President Murphy, and am

I have been informed, adds President Murphy, and am help positively to state that three hundred tons of the steel has been cast by our inspectors and sent from the Cambria Works to the rolling units of the Evermoor from Company at Mudvale, and that the rolling of this material will commence on Monday next. I can only add that no efforts have been spared on the part of the trustees to effect the state of the part of the residence of the delay. I understand, has been occasioned by the necessity of preparing a new plant for the manufacture of the unusually large size of the forms of the work required, involving much more time, as well as expense, than was anticipated. The difficulties in that respect have now I believe, been all obvisted, and there is no reason to suppose that there will be any further delay in the execution of the contract.

Comestroller Steinmetz insists that the truschan was anterpated. The difficulties in that respect have now I believe, been all obvisted, and there is no reason to suppose that there will be any further delay in the execution of the contract.

Comptroller Steinmetz insists that the trustees should have demanded the material contracted for, and had it in place by this time.

Before signing the appropriation bill Gov. Cornell sent to James Howell, the Democratic Mayor of Brooklyn, asking his views as to the desirability of the bill becoming a law. Mayor Howell responded that the bill was wise, and was worthy of executive sanction; that the additional money was needed, and would probably complete and open the bridge for public travel, and any bindrance to its completion would entail further expense and delay the time for it to become a public highway. The liabilities of the city of Brooklyn on account of the bridge already aggregated $3,333,000, and in view of the importance of the measure, its effect upon the landed interests of Brooklyn, and the lasting discredit which must attach to both cities if the bridge were suffered to remain unfinished, the Mayor recommended the Governor to sign the bridge were suffered to remain unfinished, the Mayor recommended the Governor to sign the bridge were suffered to remain unfinished, the Mayor recommended the Governor to sign the bridge were suffered to remain unfinished, the Mayor recommended the Governor to sign the bridge in the case over the river at 135 feet above mean high water at spring tides, a standard established by the Government by a series of guage measurements as to the rise rud fall of the tides in the harbor extending over a number of years. There were bench marks placed at the navy yard and at Fort Hamilton, from which levels were run and connected at the bridge, so as to get the height absolutely correct. Engineer C.C. Martin said, yesterday, that every requirement of the original commission rea, and with the maximum load uron it, still the bridge work of the original commissioners, is just the man t

The forthcoming report of the Hilinois Railroad and Warehouse Commission shows that at Chicago there are nineteen warehouses of class A, with a total reported storage capacity of 15,600,000 bushels. But the warehouse registry of that city reports that the working canacity of these warehouses is only about 13,000,000 bushels: there being 11 grades of winter wheat, 10 of string wheat, 9 of corn, 5 of oats, 4 of rre, and 10 of barley, to be kept separate each from each. The increase in storage capacity during 1879 was 52,000 bushels.

According to the existing practice in England when the holder of stock in any incorporated company dies, the original probate of his will have to be sent to the company's office for registration before his executors can exercise their rights. In many cases the requirement causes great delay besides tha risk of losing or injuring an important document, It is now proposed to adopt the American method, and to allow official certificates of the isaning of letters testamentary to be used instead of the originals.

The sub-committee of the House Committee on Pacific Railroads decided at a meeting this afternoon to report to the full committee adversely upon the bill to extend the time for the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad ten years. The sub-committee, which is composed of five members, is reported to be unanimous against the granting of any further favors in any shape to the subsidized railroads. A resolution will be reported to the full committee recommending that Congress take steps to declare forfeited all land grants to railroads which have forfeited them by non-compliance with the terms of their chariers. It it is maintained, however, that Congress does not poesess the power to declare forteited lands granted to corporations, but that in order to secure such forfeiture the Attorney-General must be instructed to begin proceedings in court to accomplish such a purpose.
